
Subject: Re: Slipknot playing a White Stripe Song
Posted by Spice on Wed, 08 Feb 2006 21:05:46 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

j_ball430 wrote on Tue, 07 February 2006 18:53: EXdeath7 wrote on Tue, 07 February 2006 18:02: Slipknot is a disgrace to music.
I agree.

Music is as strong as a religion to me. I'd appreciate it if you didn't insult mine, let alone make it seem like I'm doing it. Thanks Ryan3k wrote on Tue, 07 February 2006 18:41: I must say that their image is completely laughable, as is the fact that they have NINE band members.

Slipknot is more or less that sort of thing you have to be deeply into to understand what it's about, basically any band to for that matter.

Compare it to the people who play Video Games. There are always those people who criticize others playing them all day. That is only because it doesn't mean anything to them, They don't understand. Video Games would be that persons break from reality, Music is my break from reality.

This example can be said about anything a person deeply cares about.

bigejoe14 wrote on Tue, 07 February 2006 22:12: Didn't Slipknot break up or something?

Nope, their last album; The Subliminal Verses vol. 3 was multi-Platinum. It's an excellent CD, It was directed by Rick Rubin, The same guy that did System of a down: Toxicity, Mesmerize and Hypnotize.

check out this articles, The Ties that Bind:
http://www.mtv.com/bands/s/slipknot/news_feature_040510/

mision08 wrote on Wed, 08 February 2006 07:13: Where can I download a Slipknot song? I want to judge the musical talent of this 9 piece band. Is it a 9 piece band if 4 of them forget to bring an instrument?

You can listen to four of their songs here off their new album.
<http://www.roadrunnerrecords.com/artists/Slipknot/music.aspx>

Out those four I would suggest Pulse of the maggots or Before I forget. All of them are excellent songs though.