

---

Subject: No censorship

Posted by Squiddley on Mon, 03 Mar 2003 09:18:32 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

[sg]theOne - We might have to agree to disagree, but I need to clarify a couple of things. Last thing I want is for this to turn into a pissing contest.

Firstly you answered your own question: It's for the moderators to decide, and clearly they have decided against a filter. That's fine by me, I just wanted to voice out an opinion rather than follow the herd in thinking it's cool and clever to abuse the privilege to be allowed uncensored "speech".

Maybe you should re-read paragraph 2. I know these forums are hosted by a fansite, but they ARE the official (i.e. sanctioned) ones and therefore IMHO have an obligation to maintain at least some standards.

"Who here is encouraging kids to swear ?" Encouragement does not only mean "hey come on kids, swear, it's OK". Simply reading is encouragement enough for some. Let alone gratuitous & irrelevant swearing for the sake of it.

I'm with you about this being Crimson's site, where she can do as she pleases - all I wanted to say was "please reconsider".

Cheers.

---