Nice work, though many links don't work, probably because we don't have the module (analyse your computer, the different languages, ...).

I'm willing to have a look at the code to make it work in firefox. I kind of agree with Light here: let's make it work for everyone . OMG: just checked the code, it uses div's. Firefox so hates div's.

Nice job though. Do you also have the backoffice for it? I guess not, this is probably pure html. So there's still quite some stuff we can do for it. We'll talk.
