DreamWraith wrote on Tue, 21 February 2006 05:55 This IS old news. And like others said, this is a great thing for both companies, and for users.

This allows both companies to "trim the fat" so to speak. I would guess at some point in the future, "Fireworks" will be gone, and there will certainly be some sort of consolidation with golive/flash/dreamweaver.

Also, nobody cares for this kind of shit. It's just more time you waste by doing this. Hell, I'm taking to much time writing this with all this annoying emphasis.
