I just want to precise that he has never been reported cheating while he was in our clan. I know that he did some tests on how to bypass renguard but it always was in private servers, just to test if some things really work, like many do I suppose allthough I personally think it is wrong and if you get caught then that's your problem .

I still have "Neo" in my siggy as he is the one that made my siggy. He did very good stuff for our community but apparantly decided now he had to leave with a small 'bang'. It won't take long. If you banned him from Renguard, he'll just get !forcerg'ed and the problem will be solved very soon. I don't see him going through the very long process of bypassing a renguard ban .

I first didn't want to react on this topic, but I do feel a need now that The KOSs and my name have fallen.