You forgot to say "Mmkay?" afterwards.

I notice the same effect when you don't get sleep for nearly three days.

I don't understand why we need sleep. It's not like our heart is only good for 25 years, and if we don't sleep, we only live that long. Not as if, we need to shut our brains, lungs, or minds down to save some for later. Hopefully, these work until we die.

I don't get it, and the best reason anyone has given me, is to reproduce cells. So, I can't reproduce cells while I'm awake? It's a mystery to me.

I hate being tired though, especially driving a long distance. That's a bad feeling. The idea of cutting groves in the pavement and concrete on the shoulders of the interstate is genius.

Damn, all this chit chat is making me tired.
