

---

Subject: Re: OT: What do you do to sales people on the phone?

Posted by Dover on Tue, 28 Mar 2006 19:47:24 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I 3-way the rejection hotline, then let it talk for me. Some people get the hint and hang up, others get pissed, and others just keep on talking. Either way, I get a laugh out of it, and usually they don't call back.

As for the automated ones, I just hang up. There's no point. You can't insult a machine.

No, telemarketers aren't "honest people". Would you say Nazis who worked at concentration camps were just "Honest people working for a living"? No, they make their money at the expense of other people, and so do telemarketers. Who has the AUDACITY to become a telemarketer with the reputation they have?

---