I dunno. I got pretty good seats (Stageside, second row, middle) for a little under $100.

Paul Rogers isn't Freddy, and he never can be. They only let him sing the most basic (Vocally) songs. Brian May did "Love Of My Life" by himself, they stuck with a recording of Freddy for "Bohemian Rhapsody", and Roger Taylor sang "Days Of Our Lives".

Plus there were lots of songs by Bad Company that, while solid classics, I just didn't want to hear. I came for Queen, not for "Do You Like Making Love".
