For one, I think that the Tanya version in RA2 is in a mere shadow of the one in early RA series, yes she can swim, but she doesn't have that bad ass sound and look on her. Instead I would say Flint Westwood comes would make for a very good version of Tanya, but then again he is a man. Secondly I almost cry everytime I have to load the game cuz there is this 'nice' loading screen to look at which only makes me more impatient and seems to take forever(at least they could have implemented a progress bar), whereas in TS there was this nice looking loading screen that really didn't make u think that the game was loading at all. kinda like Generals installer vs. RA and TS. I could go on like this but instead I would like to hear what u guys think, comon trow it all out.
