So most of us want this to happen, to be able to drop off tanks, and other vehicles, via chinook, if anybody would be kind enough to tell me where I can ask the modders to build this, I would be pleased and happy to do it. By the way I think that anything can be overcome. As for the computer glitch with vehicles having no physics: Think people, it happens in single player mode all of the time! How do they do it. And as for the cables, how about a ramp (invisible ramp???) that can be dropped off the chinook and the vehicle just has to drive on that ramp, another way the chinook can attach to a vehicle is by just simply flying over it and just go down on it (default button: c) maybe that can work???. Do you guys have any ideas?
