I was a little surprised myself to see that they had actually signed it and on top of that had the audacity to blatantly break their promise set forth by signing without even withdrawing from it beforehand. What is the UN doing about it, I wonder?

Tretys ,in most cases, are nothing more than fragile promises that are written on paper by two or more leaders with the world watching (Or Not) one day, and war can break out the next. All you have to do is look no farther than your History Book. And remember that not everything in those History Books are true or accurate! Do reaserch!
