The irony here is that you're not the first person to say that.

In two days.

In two completely different people.

The majority of the problem is that I'm trying to keep my teeth covered, as I have what I like to call Raptor Mouth. Basically, my front two teeth jut out like a bitch, so it looks awkward when I smile. So, I keep my mouth shut.

Better to have giant lips than to look like a slack-jawed yokle.
