The funny part is that you don't have to use ramjets/copters either, because ravesaws/PICs, APCs, and tanks can shoot them if they can actually aim. Assuming you agree that there are areas where ramjets are pretty much hidden from tankfire and such (aka, meaning the only thing to kill them would be infantry) then, what weakness does the ramjet have?

note also that a series of 3 skilled people who bought laser chain gunners could do some good damage against unskilled and average copter pilots.
