i think i understand what you're saying but I'm a little confused, it would help if I could hear it because looking at notes doesnt mean much to me unfortunately. I'm wondering if i can play any polyrhythms... maybe i already have. man... drums are so much fun, it really works your mind when you try to peice together 3 different rhythms, of course once you teach your brain how to manage 3 rhythms at once it doesnt take too much thinking anymore and you start improvising whatever comes to mind
