
Subject: Re: do you think the world will end in 100 years like predictins say or no
Posted by ron paul on Mon, 05 Jun 2006 17:07:34 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Kamuix wrote on Sun, 04 June 2006 23:33 Civilization also appears to be improving. the only type of things that scare me slightly is things like global warming, which I dont is going to be something that all happens at the same time. As in a few weeks, like in the movie DayafterTomorrow

The movie The Day After Tommorow wasn't implying it would, if you like it's an example of what could happen over a long period of time if we don't start respecting our planet. Though a lot of people on this forum don't even believe global warming exists. They'll call you a crack pot for believing it does exist. According to DarkDemin the world is cooling down not heating up.

DarkDemin is half correct though, where I live temperature has been on the rise gradually (the earth does go through cycles of increasing and decreasing in temperature, but this has been unnaturally long and on the rise). But in other places the temperature will be lowering.
