Of course, unless you count that a bullet to the head is probably the quickest way of death (short of snapping the spinal column), and by far the surest.

No, of course. Bullets to the head only came around AFTER video games. Before the age of Grand Theft Auto, nobody even thought of shooting people in the head, right?

</sarcasm>

I'm willing to wager money that this man has never sat down and seriously played a video game in his life.

Pfff.. Pay attention will ya?

HITMEN were the ones that did it before videogames! And ONLY hitmen!
