That paragraph has been around for bloody ages.

Most forums I've been in have it dragged up every now and again, its true and amusing so it keeps popping up, the cambridge bit is part of it whether cambridge really was the source or not...

Since I live in cambridge (yes the real ENGLISH cambridge) I could walk onto (some part of) the university campus and do a 5 minute study on the length of uni students hair and truthfully say it was a study from cambridge university...

I can't care less where studies are made as long as they sound logical in the end.
