@alex: you do know giving out your serial that you use is really stupid thing to do? when someone else install's and runs there FDS they "steal" (well, not "steal" since you gave it to the public) and as soon as you take the server down you will no longer be able to connect it again. well, ide edit that post of youres before anyone else "steals" it.
That was true before Xwis came, now it isn't anymore. You can use serials as many times as you want together.

Just install on your server like you would install it on your own computer (use your renegade game serial) and all will be ok .
