

---

Subject: NOD or Nod?

Posted by Aircraftkiller on Wed, 14 May 2003 00:50:14 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Quote:I have 50 total post now; I must be a hardcore toller. I challenge anyone who is tempted to out for themselves. I had to go back 10 just to find a thread that you were involved in. That's where you blindly called someone a Dickhead, remember? I know, that could be one of dozens of your recent posts. On my way through my posts, I past several where I directly helped people and

First off, don't play innocent. You're obviously speaking about me, and one could logically infer that trolling in the form I mentioned doesn't necessarily mean that you had to be in the same thread as me. It also means that you would find other ways to be an ass, and merely jump on the mention of my alias.

So, lets see, fifty posts. That's quite unremarkable, especially considering a good number of said fifty posts are about me and how you dislike what I do. So, using your own words against you, why aren't you ignoring me?

This just in, pots all over the world are calling the kettles black!

comments, helpful information or, better yet, non flame involved threads. You take part in hundreds of flame threads that I have nothing to do with. Yet, in the small percentage of flame flaming. It's so sad you find that anoying, but such is life. Most of the time they are not even flame

Yes, yes, I know. I'm not as holy as you are. I do nothing to help others, that's why I've spent over a year doing it, whereas you spend a few months hounding me about how special you are and how much you dislike me. Go take the short bus to school, if you're so special, kid.

One other thing to note: I don't control your actions. You make your own decisions, so don't sit there going "If you didn't flame others, I wouldn't have to as well." You're not a savior, nor are you the champion of all that is right. You're just as flawed as anyone else here is, mister pot.

---