Ahh ack I dont want you to bend over, I just want you to be a nice guy. Because when you become a nice guy you may make others around you nice. As for whining, nah, dont think I am whining. Just giving a view point different than yours. I know it can be uncomfortable walking through different neighborhoods in this country. That is what we need to change, I think. Question is how? My guess, I can control myself, so the change starts with me. I chose to not let people like you spout off with out being challenged to think differently. Or are you happy being called a honkey, cracker and such?

ok ack you can stop bending over now.
