Hello everyone.
I thought i would tell you all about this pretty cool program that my clan and i have been using.
Its called Hamachi.

It basically creates a virtual network over the internet. You create a Network (eg SWS Net is my clan network) and then people you invite can join that network. and it works pretty much the same way as a normal network: browsing shared folders, playing LAN games etc.
You can join more than one network also.
My clan and I use to play games and share files.
I think its a great little handy program, and if anyone hasnt tried they should give it go.
