Yes the lan explit has been "fixed" and nobody can use it to bypass Renguard anymore, it actually has been fixed for a while.

But like Goztow said, people sometimes get false possitive messages about them attempting to use this exploit. Also like he said, if are not guilty there is nothing to really worry about.

*Sorry to go against your last post Goztow, but I think you may have read Dover's post incorectly. So I replied with an answer to what I thought he was actually asking.
