Crimson wrote on Sun, 16 July 2006 03:52 That's why I've remained quiet. If past performance is indicative of future results, then we'll never see a playable game from you guys. However, if it's different now, it will be proven. Actions speak louder than words. For the community's sake, I do hope you deliver.

If you like Crimson, when we hold the next playtest you are free to join in.

If you have FarCry that is.
