Team work belive it or not does exist but I only usally find it in matches among freinds, clans or people who know each other quite well...

The problem likes in communication and dominace...

Team Work would improve with easier communication like Westwood includeing a voice conversation add-in but don't think that will happen...

If you wan't to get rid of the dominace issue you should get people to decided on the leader like the number 1 for there team...

A good way to get teamwork is to talk to the better players and most of them will agree to a plan but some idots mentioning no names will flame you like theres no tommorow...

The best way to get some team work is have a very good moderator that can organise a leader and make sure everybody follows the rules.
