Did you say that amd is a shit company???

amd processors can beat intell anyday. not to mention that every intell computer i have had is very slow and cannot multitask very well. i have been building amd computers for a cuple of years now and everyone that has had one has had no problems and say it is faster than there old (broken) pentium 4 computers. none of them have complained about it breaking.

I'm guessing you weren't checking Intel's latest processors? Intel's Core 2 technology just sweeped the floor with AMD. I don't know what you're talking about.
