I play... once a week maybe, or every couple.

Cramming a few hours of Renegade can be a nice stress reliever. It's like a personal therapist, but much more fun.

To those of you playing this game night and day, 24/7, don't forget to eat and piss, and oh yeah, and try to keep some semblance of a social network (in real life). Meh, probably not possible; just remember to get out of your chair once every few hours.
