Socrates likes Pepsi, so it is written in the lost scrolls of Harumbashiba. Therefore, he cannot be a Coke-drinker. He was a coke SMOKER. Easy mistake to be made.

I propose that the drink which caused such a foul taste was none other than a concoction between Mountain Dew, Pepto-Bismol, and NyQuil. It was a crazy night, and he was down on his luck. I don't blame him for his actions, though.
