You look like you just graduated out of diapers not that long ago. Understand this little kid...I fought for my country what have any of you done.

I respect anybody who has fought for my country, but you get no respect from me. You dare use it as leverage in an argument. Who gives a fuck if you served? It's not some badge you wear on your shoulder to make yourself feel better than others. You served your country, and we, as citizens, should tip our hats to you, but you are certainly no better than the rest of us.

My grandfather fought in WW2, but he doesn't use his service in the military as some type of statement to get people to listen to him. I never once have heard him say, "boy, I was in World War Two." Maybe you can learn a thing or two from true, respectable veterans... but then again, you're nothing but a meathead marine.
