
Subject: Re: hardkil has threatened to impersonate me
Posted by havoc9826 on Sat, 05 Aug 2006 02:18:16 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Do you "work for" EA, or for Vivendi? You told me you work at Vivendi in LA, and you said [02:04:22] <BC_Guest> what is EALA || [02:04:32] <BC_Guest> EA is not in LA --- where do you actually "work"? Since you first alleged that you "work" at Vivendi, I'll go along with that little ruse. However, unlike you, I can prove where I work, and here's how:

DISCLAIMER: The following documents were prepared with false information, for entertainment purposes only, and are not valid for submission to any Court of Law. The creator of the documents assumes no liability for any person who attempts to file the documents with the Court in either his or her own name or in the name of the creator of the documents.

CH-100 p. 1

CH-100 p. 2

CH-100 p. 3

CH-100 p. 4

You just got served (legally).

P.S.

Blazer wrote on Fri, 04 August 2006 17:17It's more likely that you make $5 an hour, pumping gas

Minimum wage is $6.75 an hour in California. Regardless, I doubt anyone who has a wage of $50/hour would keep his job for very long if his employers found out he was taking time out of work during a crunch period to make posts on a forum.

Hardkil, even if you really work at VU/EA/anywhere, or if you're going through puberty, you need to grow up.
