Vehicles are better - they last longer, they don't need to refill, the user can heal himself in the field, they're much faster in most cases, they pack much more firepower...

As for "going against a raveshaw", in skilled hands a tank driver is very unlikely to lose a vehicle of any description to an infantry unit of any description (excluding a ramjet) in a 1 on 1 situation, no matter the skill level of the infantry user.
