one think i have to say is this:

what he did was wrong *BUT* what he did also opens your eyes to how easy it is to do that sort of stuff, heck i could create a program that could shutdown a server in a matter of minits if they didn't have some sort of udp flood protection. if no-one has learned that you *NEED* a firwall to stop this happening than you are stupid.

another way to stop this is simply to change the servers default port and block all of the others so no one would know what port it uses.

and he didn't steal from anybody as far as i know, the person was just scammed into giving their money.

and one last thing is: it may piss you off if this happens but the worst (in my case) that could happen is your computer/server computer crashes in which case you just restart.

all humans in this world deserve a second chance, give him that second chance. i have and i have found out that he is not as bad as you think he is.
