i just thought something and want somebody to disprove it, there is alot of quartz(spelling ) in the big splash this quartz would have turned into "shocked" quartz.

why didn't it pick up any shocked quartz?

oh and that site had an error:(i am not to sure on this)

Moon formed from the debris flung into space after a collision between early Earth and a Mars-size planet.

this was not a planet, i didn't orbit the sun?
