

---

Subject: I dont understand it...

Posted by Sir Phoenixx on Wed, 21 May 2003 02:17:22 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I think ack is half right. But "prejudice" would fit alot better there than "racist". Everyone is prejudice to others in some form or another. Prejudice means to judge something or someone too early, to pass judgement on someone without knowledge or knowing the facts, etc. Everyone here has done this at one point in their life. If you sterotype anyone, then you're being prejudice. For example: "He can't type, he must be stupid", "She's just a woman, she can't do anything a guy can do", etc.

---