Hey guys.

Unless you've been keeping up with our website (www.apathbeyond.com) You might have noticed that we haven't shared an update on the Renegade forums for a while. The truth is, both teams were extremely hard at work, preparing for last week's Leipzig Game Convention 2006.

Both teams made a tremendous job in preparation. Level editors got the things ingame, and the artists created more art. We also organized a live Reborn game at the time of our "show-off" to show the public, as well as EA, how things will be like ingame.

We also showed them the Red Alert: A Path Beyond ingame trailer (which you're about to see a link for) as well as many posters. Each and every team member of both mods worked very hard.

After a highly successful games convention, where both mods were shown off to many people including EA staff, Renardin and Kalle Bowo have returned home. Renardin has posted up some of his pictures around the website for you all to enjoy.
On that note, Kalle Bowo will be taking a break from 2d art for the next few months due to personal reasons, thought he'll stick around the forums.

In EA's latest C&C 3 Podcast they mention Kalle Bowo's Nod uniform quite a bit, it was a big surprise according to Mark Verdu (C&C3 Producer) You can listen to that at www.commandandconquer.com

But theres no rest for the wicked, and production on both modifications is going strong, more will be revealed sometime in the foreseeable future.
