Renegadecommunity is just a clone website of the old westwood renegade website. BUT that ladder is the official ladder for renegade and is still being hosted by westwood. Its like only thing I am aware of, that still runs on its servers (appart from the ftp), and that is one of the reasons so amny of use would like to keep it here

BTW, they are working to get it resurrected, and when it is, yours won't even come close. Lmao? Who's "working on it"? and even if they are, great! the auto report ladder will be back up (although it will be a miracle if it doesnt have 5000 bugs like the old one did). Either way, your clan would take it up the ass from ANY clan playing actively on the manual report ladder. n_P

Crimson herself is working on it, it will be planned & managed by her and her crew, but will be hosted on xwis. So it will be on xwis, but won't be crap like everything else they host

BTW, they can't release info about RG 1.04 because some people here could be spies. Which is probably true, because how do we know cyberpunk isn't here right now? o.0
