I never mentioned your trip to Europe, but go ahead and bring that up for no reason.

I moved into a new house this year at school and I wasn't able to get internet until September 2nd because of how busy the cable company is in this area around the beginning of school.

By the way, am I supposed to be upset because you're calling me poor? Why are you so fucking stupid. I'm being serious. Do you think that the internet doesn't matter so you just act like a total tard (because I can't really disagree with that) or are you actually an idiot?
