Yeah, I figured he was saying "target the shield generators" when the ships moved to attack them, but I thought Gowron was insulting Worf (as many were fond of doing in The Next Generation) with that Klingon remark.

I've been buying the Deep Space 9 season collections, so far I've got 1 and 2, 3 is on the way right now. I didn't get the chance to see the entire series, so watching it sequentially is a pretty interesting experience. I'll try Voyager next (I've seen random episodes of it, and I haven't even seen the first episode), then possibly get the box set of all TNG seasons, then work on Enterprise after that.
