Well, I hope that clears everything up!

Oh, and for the record; it is not eternal suffering awaiting those who question God's love, God will forgive anyone who is really sorry for what they've done. However, it is eternal suffering for those who completely turn their back on God (not particularly Atheists, I mean people who hate God and do evil things, not people who don't believe in him.).

Then again, according to the Bible, eternal suffering and hell aren't firey pits of doom, they are just watching everyone else go to heaven and be happy for ever before you die, physically and spiritually.

P.S. I'm not a vicar
