EA need's to go to hell anyway cus General's does not fucking fit in with C&C fucking noob bitch's needed an idea so they took C&C

And slaped it on General's thinking us Renegade Fan's would not give a shit about it, fucking dum cock suxing mother fucker's.

I agree with all of it, but could have stated it more politely in the proper topic.

I don't agree with EA running out of ideas.

I think EA sucks, and mainly that's because they buy out good video game companies for their brand names and titles.

That and they ruined Sega's sports series, which was the only sports series I liked.

They kept stealing 2K's ideas for everything anyway.

Sports gamers don't know the difference. They think EA makes it all up.

I like how Tiberium Wars looks, but...wasn't it called Tiberian Twilight, and previewed like a week before EA bought Westwood?

EA now looks at the company who's making Crysis. I wish EA would just die.

I think their games Syndicate and Syndicate Wars were awesome.

I'll give credit where it's due. I still hate EA though.

And Sony, and Activision (sucks with the Marvel license, and they bought the team that made Aggressive Inline) and I hate Squaresoft's games, but not the company itself.

I hate the creator of Metal Gear Solid. I think he's way over rated.

Long live Renegade.
