Yeah, they were pretty much in par with gse until me and roh and some other main people came back (some gse members were inactive for a bit due to generals), AoA did come up with the unexpected MRL rush on city_nonfly, where we played i think it was a practice against them and they did like 5/6 MRLs and got our powerplant except we managed to defend properly enough and attacked with enough people on the bridge to keep them held back enough as to hold out for the game and we won We managed to do the same MRL rush to other clans just for a quick win :)

Edit, and yeah maybe it wasn't you but someone here plays in unrules i don't remember who it was you.

As for the AoA on WOL, i heard they were pretty good too, but i wouldn't know, they didn't last long
