Meh, its kind of sad to see the Renegade Community is so stagnated that everyone is just taking pot shots at each other. IMO ACK should have been banned years ago for just being a rude bastard and scaring people away who really could have developed into talented map makers.. and who knows might have even taken it up as a profession like my brother (Halo38) will be doing. Im sure Crimson kept him around because she felt that his contribution in terms of maps/etc justified it, after coming back and having a brief reading of the posts made here its obvious that ACK still has some serious issues.. If you really dont care about this place anymore then fuck off and let the people who want to enjoy Renedage and develop it further do it.

All the people here who are still enjoying the game, keeping in contact with friends or working to better the game in their own time i aplaud you. As for the rest of the community.. Just look at yourselves, your actually at the point where your attacking someones character and trying to make scape goats to keep yourselves occupied. Coming back and taking a look at this place and seeing how absolutely negative it has become fills me with sadness, what is really needed here is some good old fasioned trimming.. remove the deadwood that are only adding negativity and hopefully some new life will be breathed into the community... How would you feal if you just bought Renegade gave it a whirl, enjoyed the game and decided to get involved in the community just to get shot down by someone like ACK on one of his regular ego trips.

But hell what does my input stand for, i havent been active in the community for over 2 years.. All i know is that ACK always stood behind the fact that he had "done more for the community than <insert random person>" now he isnt and he is still being an asshole so take out that ban stick and go to town.
