I really don't like what google is doing. They are buying everyone out, developing spy software, and that whole China search engine thing. Seems to go against their motto: "Don't be evil".

- * All companies buy smaller companies that are in like business or can expand their resources
 - * Developing spy software?
 - * Its against the law in china for their people to find certain things on the internet, Google just conformed to their laws so that they could still use google.
