No, of course they don't. I watch them on every day that a new episode is on. Are you stupid? Did you not read my post? I watched the episode of South Park, and it's very obvious what they mean. In fact, I don't need to make a point, because my first post is my point, and if you watched the episode yourself, you'd get it, and you wouldn't have to be here looking stupid trying to prove some invalid point.
