
Subject: Proof that video games are good for you.
Posted by John Shaft Jr. on Fri, 30 May 2003 18:00:40 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

K9TrooperJohn Shaft Jr.K9TrooperOn the down side, I bet it doesn't help the blood pressure to well.

This is just a simple question and I just want to know. How doesn't it help the blood pressure?

After reading some of the posts people make here, they appear to be a high candidate for a heart attack. Some of the people get so worked up in a forum just imagine how worked up they get in a game.

Hehehehehe.... Thats true. Like one of my friends. He wants to smash his monitor or tv everytime he dies in any videogame. Yes he has a very short temper. Sometimes I believe he is having a heart attack.

That reminds me of a mpeg I saw back on the old Renegade forums that someone posted. Where some guy was playing Counterstrike on a LAN game against his friends and one of his friends kills him and he goes off and bangs his monitor and messes up his playing area around him. It was so funny. I wonder does anyone has the URL to that Mpeg clip.
