Actully, the last couple of game's I've played have been awesome. Teamwork everywhere. There are ALWAYS engineer's repairing tanks, eachother, and buildings together. People will listen when I say "Attach the Base Defences" and "Move Out", and our huge row of tanks move into the Noddie base. I think it's just a matter of playing time. The more time you play with people in a server, the more they "get to know you", how you play. Then team work usually happens.
