C&C Reborn just posted their 2nd development blog. Go check it out here.

In our "community news bit": The KOSs2 announces their partnership with Blackintel under the motto "two brains beat 1". More about that here.

You'd think I have more but you're so wrong: I just can't follow it up all renegade related communities myself so I invite you all to post your own community news using this link.

Stay tuned though: more interviews and events will be coming during coming months.
