Killing someone followed by resetting/decrementing their would be lame. The actual code that caused the bug has been fixed by adding some extra stuff that should've been there in the first place.

The "he doesn't care" part is based on something he SAID.
Scripts.dll has been used to make an aimbot and probably some other crap. You can see more info on that in the "hidden" forum.