You cant play with Bots, and have them give you cheats.

Actually, I don't think that's what he meant. It is possible that serverside, the MOD allows you to have infinite refills, or at least in that one Co-Op server (explains the alleged presence of bots). There have been 2 such weapons in Black-Cell: the "Ultimate Weapon" in the old Deathmatch Mode (looked like it had FR, but it was a weapon in category 0; it has since been removed), and the BC visceroid chem gun (see video), which shows a 100/999 clip with infinite refills provided by the server, and puts an extra but inaccessible chem gun in category 0 (still an active crate).

However, tanner/rafililtri/liltrip/etc., you are blatantly lying about only cheating in one server. You started in Black-Cell (BCServ4) by pistoling everyone, making everyone yell about you, and then you screwed up and hit the harv with your pistol ([20:02:47] <&BCServ4> Nod Tiberium Harvester destroyed thanks to rafililtri (GDI Soldier/Automatic Pistol)). We can see the last damage done to vehicles, and the last damage you did to the harv was above 500, and timed C4 does only 400, so I promptly banned you. 2 minutes later (I doubt there was enough time for your "friend" to log on, unless he was sitting at your computer with you), you were in JellyServ (a000), and I joined their IRC to find out that one of their regulars had also joined their IRC to complain about you. You only left XWIS after they banned you. You dug your own grave, and I have no sympathy for you. You may be right that the screenshot you gave us does not incriminate you, but your recorded actions and your lies do. Hopefully, you can be mature about it, admit you were wrong, and apologize, and although you may not be forgiven, you at least will have shown remorse, and won't be another embarrassment to California.
