Subject: Re: Renguard & Vista... Houston, we have a problem...
Posted by [NE]Patriot on Sat, 02 Dec 2006 21:32:15 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Quote:Does Renguard work with Vista?

Renegade does. Renguard doesn't. I tested it myself.

Actually, they both do. You'll just need to set both game.exe and game2.exe to the WinXp SP2 compatibility mode(At least, I think that's what I did). And everything will run smoothly, so long as you're using the RC1 32-bit edition(The Beta 2 doesn't work so nicely).

Unless you meant that it won't run smoothly right off the bat, because you'd be right;)

I've been using RC1 on my PC since it was released to the CPP, and I've had no problems with Renegade or RG since(No more than I did with XP, anyhow). Now, if you use the 64-bit edition, than you can't really count on anything to work. It's a real compatibility nightmare. And keep in mind that GSA doesn't work with RC1 currently(You can't join a server or lobby unless you follow someone). And RenIP needs a compatibility mode too I think...Or it may have been the administrator mode.

If we're lucky, though, a lot of this stuff will be fixed by time Vista is released. I wouldn't count on all of it being fixed.

Oh yeah, if you're having trouble installing, then try the combatibility mode with the installer.