

---

Subject: Re: well...i can tell im not wanted here.
Posted by futura83 on Wed, 20 Dec 2006 00:46:03 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

i havnt been on the forums for awhile, as, i have realised more and more at the amount of trolls on these forums; i posted regularly on imdb before this, and though that was bad.

needless to say, dan, and even i, have moved on to bigger and better things. but thats just it, moving on. you could spend most of your time trying to improve thi dying game, or you could search for a better, more modern one.

im not here to tell you what to do, cos if you like this game, then good for you.

i have moved to a more enjoyable game, and post on its forum.

also, you may have noticed (wel, if you didnt...) that about 99% of threads on these forums have a flamefest in them, and you have to ask yourselves: why?

at first, when i left renegade, i thought i'll stick aroujnd for some mods i was waiting for, but started questioning myself; what's the point?

compared to hard-core players, my life in renegade has been short, and i congradulate those who still think it is fun, even though they have played since beta.

p.s. the game i go on about is WoW: it is modern, it is updated regularly, and it has an update around the corner but most of all, its the changing environment on WoW that makes it so addictive; even if you do the same things all the time. the people you meet can change it drastically.

thanks for reading, and goodbye.

p.p.s i only came back momentarily as i was asked by dan to read this thread

---